

Manage Notification Settings

This month in Realm...

Click on the arrow next to your name in the upper right corner of your profile screen. Select “Notification Settings” to control the amount of email you get for each of your groups. Adjust settings to your preference.

Newsfeed Notifications

You have control over how often you’re notified when information is posted to your group’s Newsfeed. You can select different notification settings for each group you’re a part of. So if you want to receive all notifications for your Bible study group, but no notifications from another group, you can do that! You can also choose to receive highlights from all of your church groups once a day through a daily digest email.

Inbox Notifications

Messages will always show up in your inbox, but you also have control over message notifications you receive outside of Realm. Maybe there’s a particular group you always want notifications from. You can modify your notification settings to send an email to your personal email every time your group leader sends a message. You can also choose if you want emails for message replies. Or, if there’s a group you don’t want to be notified about, you can choose to receive nothing. Inbox notifications are completely yours to customize, so you’re always in the loop when it comes to the groups that are important to you.

You can control your mobile notifications directly from the iOS and Android apps.

Step 1: On the app, go to more..., settings, push notification settings, notifications (adjust as you would like), complete! Step 2: You can also adjust notifications for each group you are in. Go to more...settings, select a group, adjust the newsfeed and inbox settings as you would like. Instructions may be slightly different for Android devices.
